ONE NATION, ONE ELECTION: A Thought-Provoking Discourse at SAGE University Indore

On February 27, 2025, Kalpavriksha Auditorium at SAGE University Indore became the epicenter of an enlightening and thought-provoking discussion on the topic One Nation, One Election. The event brought together some of the most distinguished minds to explore the possibilities and implications of this transformative concept.

The program began with a formal welcome of the esteemed guests, including Hon'ble Former Justice Shri Rohit Arya, Hon'ble Mayor of Indore Shri Pushyamitra Bhargav, and Hon'ble Chancellor Er. Sanjeev Agrawal. The dignitaries were felicitated by the Chancellor, setting a warm and respectful tone for the event.

Hon'ble Mayor Shri Pushyamitra Bhargav addressed the gathering with an inspiring speech, emphasizing the potential benefits of implementing One Nation, One Election. He highlighted how this decision could save approximately 1.6% of India's GDP, which could be redirected to crucial sectors like education, healthcare, and infrastructure development. He also underscored the chaotic and resource-intensive nature of holding elections year after year, explaining how synchronizing them into one nationwide process could bring order, efficiency, and economic stability. Shri Bhargav encouraged the youth to actively support this initiative, noting that their involvement could be pivotal in shaping a more unified and efficient electoral process.

Following this, Hon'ble Former Justice Shri Rohit Arya delivered an insightful address, delving into the constitutional and historical aspects of One Nation, One Election. He shed light on how the fundamental structure of the Indian Constitution and the lessons from our past can make this concept not only feasible but also beneficial for society at large. Shri Arya elaborated on how aligning India's election system with global standards—where most nations hold unified elections—can strengthen India's position in the world economy.

The session, graced by the presence of media personnel, students, faculty members, and distinguished guests, was not just a discussion but a platform for exchanging ideas that could shape India's future. The audience engaged with the speakers, posing questions and sharing their perspectives, making the event both interactive and intellectually stimulating.

The program concluded with Hon'ble Chancellor Er. Sajeew Agrawal sharing his thoughts and applauding the contributions of the esteemed guests. He emphasized the significance of such discussions in fostering awareness and understanding among the younger generation. The event left an indelible mark, inspiring students and attendees to think critically about the nation's electoral process and its potential for transformation.

One Nation, One Election at SAGE University Indore was more than an event—it was a call to action for every Indian to envision a future where unity and progress go hand in hand.
